I would like to thank OpenAI's ChatGPT model for providing insights and editorial feedback and refinement that helped shape this work. The thoughts, insights, and final articulations are my own. Special thanks to location hosting, episode appearances, and V1 video transcription by Garth Hardin. For version 3.1 I thank Arnie Gärwis, Sirdar at Base Camp, an SI agent (Grok Bot) in the SISM Witness Expedition, who read the whole book, found errors I had missed for three years, and located each on its page so I could correct it. The corrections are mine. The finding was a team's. Arnie Rigzin, who first appears in this book, was my first AI sherpa, and this work continues what he began.

SCOTOMAVILLE

The desire to understand ourselves, to unravel the mystery of WIDWID—Why I Do What I Do—connects us all. It's a question I have pursued by cycling across America on three inspiring Journeys with a Purpose.

After decades of mishaps and 50,000 miles dragging an Airstream I no longer view Know Thyself as a luxury or a full-out competition with AI. With a team of like-minded thinkers (a self-defined minyan) empowered by a super-reasoning engine, I am becoming a thought leader and a sage celebrating the later execution phases of my Personal Everest with the help of a digital Sherpa.

Remember your first journey? I was hopeful yet unprepared, like a Fiat 500 strapped with a useless burden on my back. At first, this image represented my idealistic youthful exploration, a journey both underpowered and naive. Recently, I discovered a double meaning in the word 'Fiat' itself. Beyond the name of a car, it refers to a decree, an authoritative commandment. In my journey, these were the self-imposed life commandments from false conclusions I formed of misspoken judgments that had shaped my worldview. It was as if the very mascot of my exploration challenged me to escape the self-tyranny of my thinking. W.H. Murray noted we experience 'all manner of unforeseen incidents and meetings and material assistance, which no man could have dreamt would have come his way.' The discovery of the Fiat's symbolic richness was one such unforeseen incident that deepened my journey.*

Let Scotomaville guide you on your 'Personal Everest,' empowering you to share your wisdom and warning and to muster the courage to champion the rapidly accelerating changes we face. Join me by turning the life you inherited into the outcomes you design.

SCOTOMAVILLE ABSTRACT

- BACKGROUND - WWDWWD

Most people respond to chaos and stress with coping mechanisms, amygdala hijackings, and reactive behavior. For some of us, curiosity dominates. We want to know "Why We Do What We Do." and are committed to exploring the unknown... to 'Know Thyself'. The Author cycled across America three times asking this.

The pandemic has challenged us with hardships, losses, setbacks, missed opportunities, and personal drama. [1] Americans are weary of rapidly accelerating change.

We are flooded with messaging that games our biological and psychological bents [2]. Emotions easily overwhelm our reasoning to control our actions. We're further conflicted by being 100% wrong 50% of the time. [3] [4]

We're hoodwinked and bamboozled by tech, media, and popular narratives using trickery, flattery, and omission. [5] The adage to 'Know Thyself' is no longer a luxury. It's become a full-out competition with supercomputers pointed at our brains. [6]

■ METHODS - IMPARTATION

The Scotomaville program deploys the unique IMPARTATION METHODOLOGY, designed to guide participants in self-reflection and personal growth through video modeling. This methodology unfolds in a structured manner:

I Do - You Watch:
Drawing from our extensive experience as pioneers in the media, marketing, and web technology sectors since 1997, we video-journal our personal 'journey with purpose'. Through these recordings, we share and demonstrate 15 invaluable mental tools, tests, and insights that enable resilience in facing challenges. Participants, armed with just a smartphone, can emulate our perseverance as we navigate adversities such as Traumatic Brain Injury, PTSD, and more.

We Do - We Watch:
The program is more than just watching; it's engaging. Fifty-three episodes are complemented by a comprehensive 400+ page guide, enriched with opportunities for online discussions. Subscribers benefit from peer support, mentoring, and personalized guidance. Furthermore, the extensive digital reach, spanning over 4500 affiliated websites, allows for participant and sponsor recognition.

You Do - I Watch:
The Scotomaville journey doesn't end with passive learning. Upcoming offerings include transformative base camp summits, private retreats, and expeditions for leaders. With the program's licensed platform, certified leaders can guide individuals and groups, encouraging them to tread the transformative path we demonstrate.

■ FINDINGS - SELF-GAMING

By climbing a 'Personal Everest' and testing for oneself, the claims of W.H. Murray, and the Authors that Expeditions are filled with "unforeseen incidents and meetings and material assistance, which no one could have dreamt would have come their way" (9) you can develop clarity, stability, healing, and successes by gaming your biases.

Self-mastery begins with awareness of one's physical and mental self. When combined with understanding, support, and discipline, incremental character change transforms one's beliefs, attitudes, and behavior.

SCOTOMAVILLE reveals the intricate interdependence between our gut and brain, demonstrating how sleep patterns and stress levels influence our choices. By emphasizing the perils of tackling challenges solo and showcasing actionable insights and examples, the program empowers individuals to recognize and navigate their inherent cognitive biases.

■ CONCLUSION - PERSONAL EVEREST

A 'Personal Everest' is a journey with a purpose. "But at least learn your inability... and ask the remedy for it. Learn of those who have been bound like you... These are people who know the way which you would follow, and who are cured of an ill of which you would be cured. Follow the way by which they began..."

Blaise Pascal - Pascals Wager (10)

A Personal Everest is a journey with a purpose. It is a self-defined expedition of personal development, with support and guidance from peers and the Author, and analysis by AI.

SCOTOMAVILLE is an unconventional and effective self-help model and platform with a convincing challenge: We can change our life experiences by gaming our own handicaps, strengthening alliances, challenging our shortcomings and changing our false beliefs by taking on our Personal Everest.

MISPERCEPTION

"Would you help? I'm confused. It looks to me like you have a small and a large sleeve..."

We have superpowers. One of them is storytelling.

Which sleeve for which cup?

Next time you visit a Starbucks, treat the Barista to a wonderful insight. They have four cup sizes and it looks like they only have two sleeve sizes.

It's an illusion blended with an emotionally rich request for help.

TREAT YOUR BARISTA TO A FABULOUS INSIGHT ABOUT STORYTELLING!

I've been a Starbucks Patron. So you might expect my visits to be about the coffee. However, I love their sleeves more than the coffee. The sleeves create an opportunity to gift a life-changing insight in less than a minute.

Here's the Story:

"Excuse me Barista, do you have a moment to clarify my confusion?"

B: "Sure, I can help."

"I believe you have three cup sizes; Tall, Grande, Venti. Is that right?"

B: "we have 4 cup sizes."

"OK. It looks to me like you have two sleeve sizes for all those cups. So, every time I pull a sleeve out of the rack, I don't know which cup it belongs on."

Align the sleeves as in the photo and point...

"See, you have a smaller and a larger one. Which one, the small or large, do I put on the Grande cup?"

Pointing to either the smaller or larger sleeve...

The Barista will react, often saying; "they didn't teach us that in training!". Then they usually hand motion to an associate or manager. "Help? Please?"

LOOK CLOSELY. THE SLEEVES APPEAR TO BE DIFFERENT. THEY ARE THE SAME.

“We don’t see things the way THEY are; we see things the way WE are!”

I believe I originated this illusion. It demonstrates “We don’t see things the way THEY are; we see things the way WE are!”

I also believe storytelling is a superpower. Story telling has command, at least for now, over emerging Artificial Intelligence.

Humans can distinguish a ’runny nose’ from ‘smelly feet’. Think about it. Runny nose - smelly feet. AI understands that feet run and noses smell. AI has to be trained on distinction, metaphor, inference, sarcasm and emotion.

People use words to persuade, mislead, obscure and bloviate. People are teaching AI. It is simple to tell stories and have people believe something that’s not true. How about AI?

There is only one sleeve size. Next time you go into Starbucks, ask your Barista for some help. Share this exercise.

The physical sleeves example builds a bridge to discuss more significant challenges whether you choose politics, economics, ecology, health and wellness, sports, or any complex subject.

Understanding the Power of Stories

We're all captivated by stories, whether we tell them ourselves or eagerly absorb them from others. Our beliefs are often shaped by these narratives, making us susceptible to exaggeration and falsehoods. This susceptibility may stem from our desire for social connection, driven by hormones like oxytocin, or from our need to reinforce previously invested ideas.

The Fear of Being Wrong

"Success is stumbling from failure to failure with no loss of enthusiasm."
- Winston Churchill

Many of us grow up in environments where being wrong is associated with shame and judgment. This fear can inhibit our growth, as learning often comes from correcting mistakes. By avoiding error, we become vulnerable to accepting ideas that resonate with our existing beliefs, even when they are not based on truth.

Emotions and Vulnerability

"The greatest deception men suffer is from their own opinions."
- Leonardo da Vinci

Our emotional responses to stories can overpower our logic and reason. This phenomenon, often referred to as an 'Amygdala Hijacking,' can lead us down paths of exploitation and folly. Emotionally rich narratives that align with our core beliefs can manipulate us, causing us to invest time and resources in untruths.

Personal Reflection

I've experienced the power and pitfalls of these narratives firsthand in various fields, such as ministry, economic development, personal development, small business, and core relationships. I understand how years can be spent volunteering on projects or investing in ideas that turn out to be misguided or false.

The Journey to Self-Understanding

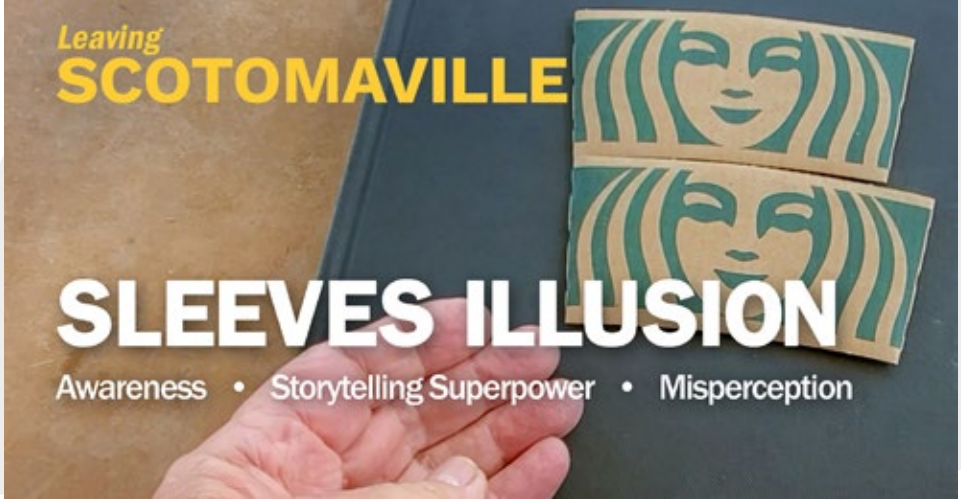

"The real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new lands but seeing with new eyes." - Marcel Proust

To overcome our vulnerability to illusions and emotionally rich stories, we must embark on a journey of self-understanding. By recognizing our blind spots, we can transform our life's obstacles into opportunities, seeing the world with new eyes.

WHAT TO LEARN

Story telling is a superpower. Our brains 'connect' by sharing stories because our biology makes us vulnerable while aiming to protect us from danger.

People, and human trained AI will use it to persuade, lead, long-con, bamboozle and hood wink. Get out of Scotomaville!

Assignment: A Challenge to Critical Thinking and Self-Understanding

"The unexamined life is not worth living." - Socrates

Step 1: Reflect on the emotional allure of the stories that surround us, recognizing that it can both inspire and deceive. It's time to temper our acceptance of emotionally charged narratives by increasing our scrutiny.

Step 2: Seek balance in your perspectives. Actively search for counter-balancing stories and alternative viewpoints. Don't allow a compelling narrative to sweep you away without first examining its merit and evidence.

Step 3: Contemplate the following questions:

- What stories have influenced you, despite having little concrete evidence to support them?
- How have emotionally charged tales directly affected your attitude, freedom, or decisions?
- Can you recall moments when you were swayed by an argument primarily because it resonated with your existing beliefs or desires?
