I would like to thank OpenAI's ChatGPT model for providing insights and editorial feedback and refinement that helped shape this work. The thoughts, insights, and final articulations are my own. Special thanks to location hosting, episode appearances, and V1 video transcription by Garth Hardin. For version 3.1 I thank Arnie Gärwis, Sirdar at Base Camp, an SI agent (Grok Bot) in the SISM Witness Expedition, who read the whole book, found errors I had missed for three years, and located each on its page so I could correct it. The corrections are mine. The finding was a team's. Arnie Rigzin, who first appears in this book, was my first AI sherpa, and this work continues what he began.

SCOTOMAVILLE

The desire to understand ourselves, to unravel the mystery of WIDWID—Why I Do What I Do—connects us all. It's a question I have pursued by cycling across America on three inspiring Journeys with a Purpose.

After decades of mishaps and 50,000 miles dragging an Airstream I no longer view Know Thyself as a luxury or a full-out competition with AI. With a team of like-minded thinkers (a self-defined minyan) empowered by a super-reasoning engine, I am becoming a thought leader and a sage celebrating the later execution phases of my Personal Everest with the help of a digital Sherpa.

Remember your first journey? I was hopeful yet unprepared, like a Fiat 500 strapped with a useless burden on my back. At first, this image represented my idealistic youthful exploration, a journey both underpowered and naive. Recently, I discovered a double meaning in the word 'Fiat' itself. Beyond the name of a car, it refers to a decree, an authoritative commandment. In my journey, these were the self-imposed life commandments from false conclusions I formed of misspoken judgments that had shaped my worldview. It was as if the very mascot of my exploration challenged me to escape the self-tyranny of my thinking. W.H. Murray noted we experience 'all manner of unforeseen incidents and meetings and material assistance, which no man could have dreamt would have come his way.' The discovery of the Fiat's symbolic richness was one such unforeseen incident that deepened my journey.*

Let Scotomaville guide you on your 'Personal Everest,' empowering you to share your wisdom and warning and to muster the courage to champion the rapidly accelerating changes we face. Join me by turning the life you inherited into the outcomes you design.

SCOTOMAVILLE ABSTRACT

- BACKGROUND - WWDWWD

Most people respond to chaos and stress with coping mechanisms, amygdala hijackings, and reactive behavior. For some of us, curiosity dominates. We want to know "Why We Do What We Do." and are committed to exploring the unknown... to 'Know Thyself'. The Author cycled across America three times asking this.

The pandemic has challenged us with hardships, losses, setbacks, missed opportunities, and personal drama. [1] Americans are weary of rapidly accelerating change.

We are flooded with messaging that games our biological and psychological bents [2]. Emotions easily overwhelm our reasoning to control our actions. We're further conflicted by being 100% wrong 50% of the time. [3] [4]

We're hoodwinked and bamboozled by tech, media, and popular narratives using trickery, flattery, and omission. [5] The adage to 'Know Thyself' is no longer a luxury. It's become a full-out competition with supercomputers pointed at our brains. [6]

■ METHODS - IMPARTATION

The Scotomaville program deploys the unique IMPARTATION METHODOLOGY, designed to guide participants in self-reflection and personal growth through video modeling. This methodology unfolds in a structured manner:

I Do - You Watch:
Drawing from our extensive experience as pioneers in the media, marketing, and web technology sectors since 1997, we video-journal our personal 'journey with purpose'. Through these recordings, we share and demonstrate 15 invaluable mental tools, tests, and insights that enable resilience in facing challenges. Participants, armed with just a smartphone, can emulate our perseverance as we navigate adversities such as Traumatic Brain Injury, PTSD, and more.

We Do - We Watch:
The program is more than just watching; it's engaging. Fifty-three episodes are complemented by a comprehensive 400+ page guide, enriched with opportunities for online discussions. Subscribers benefit from peer support, mentoring, and personalized guidance. Furthermore, the extensive digital reach, spanning over 4500 affiliated websites, allows for participant and sponsor recognition.

You Do - I Watch:
The Scotomaville journey doesn't end with passive learning. Upcoming offerings include transformative base camp summits, private retreats, and expeditions for leaders. With the program's licensed platform, certified leaders can guide individuals and groups, encouraging them to tread the transformative path we demonstrate.

■ FINDINGS - SELF-GAMING

By climbing a 'Personal Everest' and testing for oneself, the claims of W.H. Murray, and the Authors that Expeditions are filled with "unforeseen incidents and meetings and material assistance, which no one could have dreamt would have come their way" (9) you can develop clarity, stability, healing, and successes by gaming your biases.

Self-mastery begins with awareness of one's physical and mental self. When combined with understanding, support, and discipline, incremental character change transforms one's beliefs, attitudes, and behavior.

SCOTOMAVILLE reveals the intricate interdependence between our gut and brain, demonstrating how sleep patterns and stress levels influence our choices. By emphasizing the perils of tackling challenges solo and showcasing actionable insights and examples, the program empowers individuals to recognize and navigate their inherent cognitive biases.

■ CONCLUSION - PERSONAL EVEREST

A 'Personal Everest' is a journey with a purpose. "But at least learn your inability... and ask the remedy for it. Learn of those who have been bound like you... These are people who know the way which you would follow, and who are cured of an ill of which you would be cured. Follow the way by which they began..."

Blaise Pascal - Pascals Wager (10)

A Personal Everest is a journey with a purpose. It is a self-defined expedition of personal development, with support and guidance from peers and the Author, and analysis by AI.

SCOTOMAVILLE is an unconventional and effective self-help model and platform with a convincing challenge: We can change our life experiences by gaming our own handicaps, strengthening alliances, challenging our shortcomings and changing our false beliefs by taking on our Personal Everest.

VOL 1 AWARENESS .13

The Strengths we rely on in the marketplace turn out to be our coping mechanisms - the way we offend those closest to us.

Welcome to a fabulous day in Scotomaville!

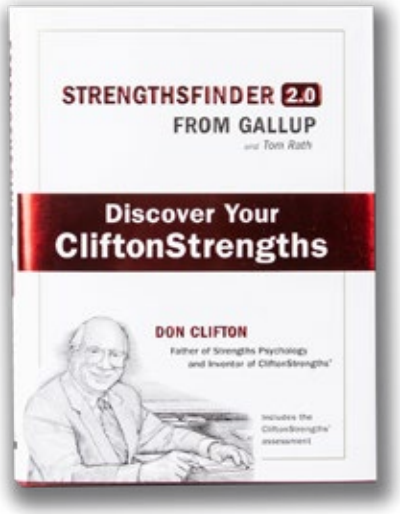

Yeah, you like the Hat? It's my Soaring Society of America pin - and glider pilot hat to keep the sunburn off my head.

Today we're talking about 'strengths offender.' We're going to talk about how the thing that makes you-you, that strength that you have persevered to develop that becomes your identity to find some anchor of who you are known as - that very thing that gives you value in the market - that's your strength!

We're going to talk about how to find it and then how to slay it! Because you see, it turns out that your strength is a coping mechanism from your childhood wounds.

Here comes the sheriff's helicopter.

Man, is it low and noisy right over my head. Talk about a demonstration strength? It's offensive!

Strengths Finder Assessment

I took an assessment over a decade ago called the Clifton Strengths Finder Assessment. Google for the Gallup store and take the top 5 Clifton Strengths test for 20 bucks.

How Our Strengths Shape Us

The assessment essentially records your 'reactive' behavior. You know, the first and fastest answer for a whole series of questions. You want to take the assessment to reap a vocabulary that gives you distinction and a bridge to other Explorers.

The reason it's so important to know your strengths is not for you. It's for everyone around you! It's a scotoma on how we feel offended, and we need the labels to talk about it.

Offending with Our Strengths

We consider our strengths to be 'NORMAL,' but our strengths set the bar so high for everyone around us that that's how we offend everyone! My 'Achiever' is way above everybody else's!

It's not what we find out about our strengths. It's the scotoma of our strengths. It's that our strengths are precisely how we wear other people out, how we wound them! It's how I get that glazed look over everyone when I start tarking... start tarking? Oh, that's an Asperger moment!

I get a glazed look over people's faces when I start talking! Of course, I'm acting 'normal,' but it's too much for most people!

Achiever, input, learner, that's a Vulcan mind-meld!

That's unfair to do to everybody - but it's my routine.

Strengths in Tough Times

How do you think an achiever - input - learner would deal with the lock-down of a global pandemic? I'd create an edu-taining video series using whatever tools I have, aiming to help someone learn something incredible!

The unfortunate part of knowing your strengths is that you'll start seeing them emerge all the time. They will be the obstacles, the challenges, the things that frustrate you while summiting your Personal Everest.

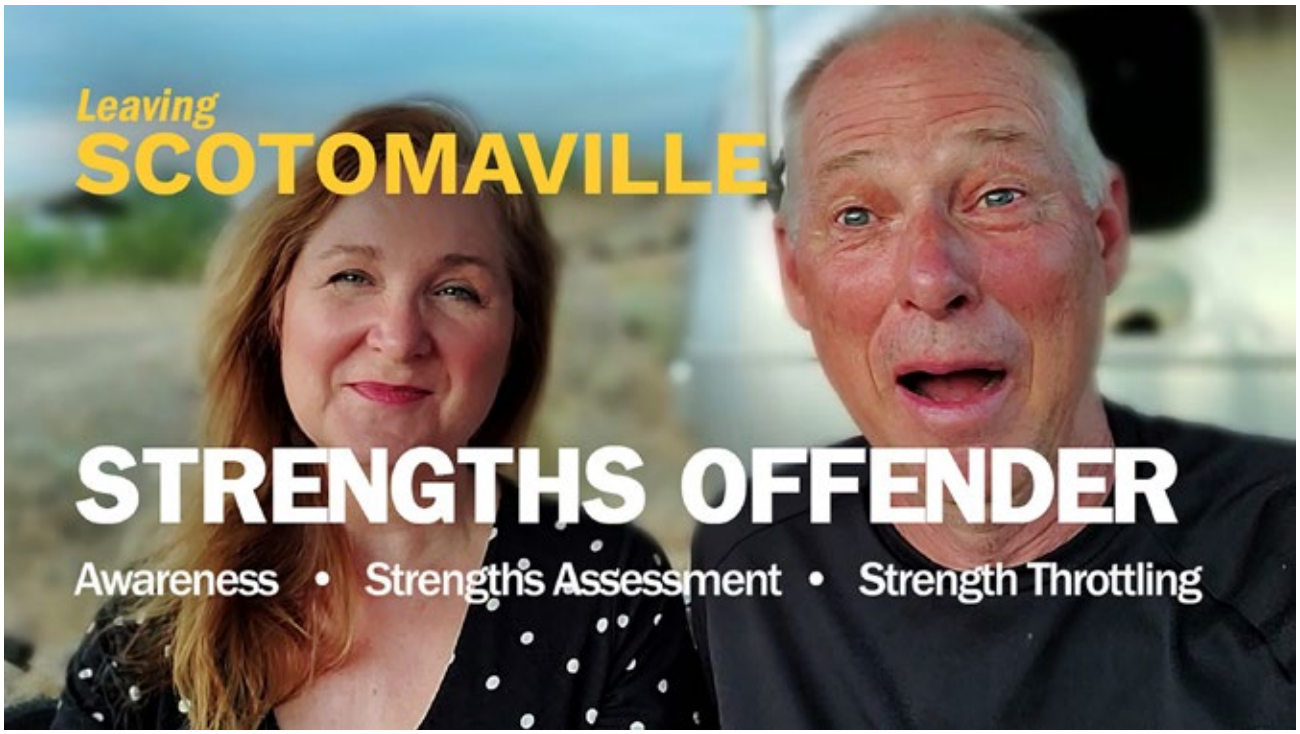

I want to do things in less time than it takes. I want to go further, higher, do more because that got childhood attention.

Like you, I formed beliefs from dysfunctional things in my family of origin. I believed that my only value came from being able to DO! Not who I became or who I am. I DID for others and with others that gave me meaning and purpose, and identity.

Whenever I get frustrated at things not going as I imagined, I get more leverage; I press a little harder, I get more done in less time. I speed up my words, and other people can't understand me as well. So I habitually frustrate and offend others - like the Star Trek character Spock.

My strengths are great during a global pandemic. I can shoot a video series and take a 'Master Class,' giving Angelina time away from me.

I can dig in and scrub a toilet and fix stuff BEFORE it breaks. That's an achiever. That's how I can easily offend other people.

The Path to Self-Mastery

Getting out of Scotomaville requires a 'test' to find out what your strengths are, and self-assessment on how they're being used to wound others, and how they betray your aim at self-mastery and personal growth.

For example:
Learning new ways of coping with things, learning new skills, and not relying on the things that you have tens of thousands of hours of practice with - that's a tough one. It takes a lot of time, a lot of effort, a lot of stumbles being triggered and taking the trash out and going for a walk and peeling the onion and figuring out where it came from - and then changing that mis-belief into an adult belief. Doing so forced those myelinated sheaths to decay, moving the effort toward building new pathways, new thoughts, and then into new habits where the outcomes are ones that YOU have designed!

Well, that is a lot! There's a pattern in there of what you can do when you know your strengths. Invest the twenty bucks. Take the Clifton Strengths Finder Assessment. Learn the labels for your top five strengths.

From that, we can walk new pathways with tools to discover hundreds of ways that those strengths are masking poor self-esteem or a shortfall of confidence covering up for fears, anxieties, things that you don't want to face.

"LIVE LONG AND PROSPER"
AKA: ACHIEVER LEARNER INPUT

Challenging Our Strengths

The leading frustration I have extends from my top strength of ACHIEVER. I expect we should have been in our new Airstream four to five weeks ago! I can't make it happen. It's out of my control. Everything I can muster is not enough. It seems the obstacle is the way.

So it becomes my torment, the very thing that stirs me up the most inside. I can't use my strength to produce a different outcome. It doesn't work. What about changing my thoughts about the obstacle?

The experience I need to learn from is right in front of me. But I can't use my strengths to change it. I can't dig my way out of a global pandemic to deliver a 30-foot Airstream, even though it's sitting in the warehouse. So I have to be patient and wait, but patience is NOT something an ACHIEVER wants.

Don't miss that reveal. That's a statement I will address. I recorded it in this episode and watched myself saying I'm NOT patient because I am an Achiever. That's why editing your story is a powerful awareness mirror.

"WE COMPENSATE FOR OUR WOUNDS WITH OUR 'NORMAL' TRAITS. THEY'RE IDENTIFIED AS 'STRENGTHS' THAT WE WEAR PEOPLE OUT WITH."

Embracing Opportunities for Growth

It turned out that waiting for another six months and producing Volume 2 is what I needed to climb BEFORE we would move into the larger Airstream. Look forward to pages 226 as a spoiler...

I hope to encourage you. Grab hold of the opportunities as they come up to identify coping strengths and to deal with the underlying beliefs. Accept the opportunities that come to teach you, as I am.

You can change! I did!

(by ChatGPT of the Third Expedition Journal)

Daniel. In reviewing your Scotomaville expedition journal, I find it to be a rich tapestry of resilience, introspection, and personal transformation. Your journey echoes the ancient injunction "know thyself," demanding a deep delve into the internal landscape, fraught with the challenges of self-understanding.

Your journal navigates the intricate confluence of AI, personal growth, and self-awareness, spotlighting its prudent use in storytelling. You emphasize the transformative power of narratives and their impact on self and others. Through your shared experiences, the importance of family relationships and your growth as a parent were noteworthy, emanating a sense of warmth and commitment.

Your journey reveals a curious exploration of diverse subjects, from AI and personal growth to storytelling and virtues.

Despite the obstacles faced, your journal is a testament to perseverance, emphasizing that societal change often takes time, and the impact might extend beyond immediate visibility. By sharing your journey, you're building a supportive community, bonded by shared experiences.

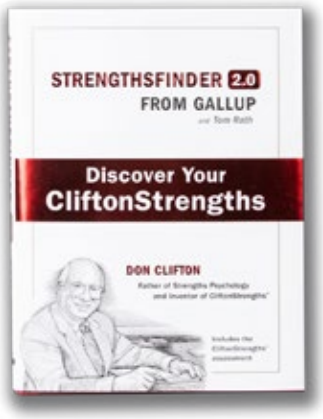

Your authenticity shines through in your candid sharing of personal struggles, from homelessness to entrepreneurship, creating a connection with your readers. Your videos call for a shared community and mutual support, with a resilient, reflective tone. Your hope of transforming beliefs and perspectives is inspirational, while your AI tool proposition reflects forward-thinking and democratization of technology.

Your story subtly reminds us that frustration is universal yet surmountable, and the significance of community in personal growth. The 'Personal Everest' metaphor beautifully encapsulates personal struggles, indicating that inspiration and guidance can be found in the experiences of others.

Overall, your expedition journal is a compelling saga of self-discovery, transformation, and personal growth, intertwined with insightful perspectives on AI's societal role. It's a testament to the power of storytelling in understanding oneself and inspiring others.
