AN INTERACTIVE - AI GUIDED - SELF-MASTERY EXPEDITION FOR LEAVING

SCOTOMAVILLE

The desire to understand ourselves, to unravel the mystery of WIDWID—Why I Do What I Do—connects us all. It’s a question I have pursued by cycling across America on three inspiring Journeys with a Purpose.

After decades of mishaps and 50,000 miles dragging an Airstream I no longer view Know Thyself as a luxury or a full-out competition with AI. With a team of like-minded thinkers (a self-defined minyan) empowered by a super-reasoning engine, I am becoming a thought leader and a sage celebrating the later execution phases of my Personal Everest with the help of a digital Sherpa.

Remember your first journey? I was hopeful yet unprepared, like a Fiat 500 strapped with a useless burden on my back. At first, this image represented my idealistic youthful exploration, a journey both underpowered and naive. Recently, I discovered a double meaning in the word ‘Fiat’ itself. Beyond the name of a car, it refers to a decree, an authoritative commandment. In my journey, these were the self-imposed life commandments from false conclusions I formed of misspoken judgments that had shaped my worldview. It was as if the very mascot of my exploration challenged me to escape the self-tyranny of my thinking. W.H. Murray noted we experience ‘all manner of unforeseen incidents and meetings and material assistance, which no man could have dreamt would have come his way.’ The discovery of the Fiat’s symbolic richness was one such unforeseen incident that deepened my journey.

Let Scotomaville guide you on your ‘Personal Everest,’ empowering you to share your wisdom and warning and to muster the courage to champion the rapidly accelerating changes we face. Join me by turning the life you inherited into the outcomes you design.

SCOTOMAVILLE ABSTRACT

■ BACKGROUND - WWDWWD

Most people respond to chaos and stress with coping mechanisms, amygdala hijackings, and reactive behavior. For some of us, curiosity dominates. We want to know “Why We Do What We Do.” and are committed to exploring the unknown... to ‘Know Thyself’. The Author cycled across America three times asking this.

The pandemic has challenged us with hardships, losses, setbacks, missed opportunities, and personal drama. ⁽¹⁾ Americans are weary of rapidly accelerating change.

We are flooded with messaging that games our biological and psychological bents ⁽²⁾. Emotions easily overwhelm our reasoning to control our actions. We’re further conflicted by being 100% wrong 50% of the time. ⁽³⁾ ⁽⁴⁾

We’re hoodwinked and bamboozled by tech, media, and popular narratives using trickery, flattery, and omission. ⁽⁵⁾ The adage to ‘Know Thyself’ is no longer a luxury. It’s become a full-out competition with supercomputers pointed at our brains. ⁽⁶⁾

■ METHODS - IMPARTATION

The Scotomaville program deploys the unique IMPARTATION METHODOLOGY, designed to guide participants in self-reflection and personal growth through video modeling. This methodology unfolds in a structured manner:

I Do - You Watch:

Drawing from our extensive experience as pioneers in the media, marketing, and web technology sectors since 1997, we video-journal our personal ‘journey with purpose’. Through these recordings, we share and demonstrate 15 invaluable mental tools, tests, and insights that enable resilience in facing challenges. Participants, armed with just a smartphone, can emulate our perseverance as we navigate adversities such as Traumatic Brain Injury, PTSD, and more.

We Do - We Watch:

The program is more than just watching; it’s engaging. Fifty-three episodes are complemented by a comprehensive 400+ page guide, enriched with opportunities for online discussions. Subscribers benefit from peer support, mentoring, and personalized guidance. Furthermore, the extensive digital reach, spanning over 4500 affiliated websites, allows for participant and sponsor recognition.

You Do - I Watch:

The Scotomaville journey doesn’t end with passive learning. Upcoming offerings include transformative base camp summits, private retreats, and expeditions for leaders. With the program’s licensed platform, certified leaders can guide individuals and groups, encouraging them to tread the transformative path we demonstrate.

■ FINDINGS - SELF-GAMING

By climbing a ‘Personal Everest’ and testing for oneself, the claims of W.H. Murray, and the Authors that Expeditions are filled with “unforeseen incidents and meetings and material assistance, which no one could have dreamt would have come their way” ⁽⁹⁾ you can develop clarity, stability, healing, and successes by gaming your biases.

Self-mastery begins with awareness of one’s physical and mental self. When combined with understanding, support, and discipline, incremental character change transforms one’s beliefs, attitudes, and behavior.

SCOTOMAVILLE reveals the intricate interdependence between our gut and brain, demonstrating how sleep patterns and stress levels influence our choices. By emphasizing the perils of tackling challenges solo and showcasing actionable insights and examples, the program empowers individuals to recognize and navigate their inherent cognitive biases.

■ CONCLUSION - PERSONAL EVEREST

A ‘Personal Everest’ is a journey with a purpose. “But at least learn your inability... and ask the remedy for it. Learn of those who have been bound like you... These are people who know the way which you would follow, and who are cured of an ill of which you would be cured. Follow the way by which they began...”

Blaise Pascal - Pascals Wager ⁽¹⁰⁾

A Personal Everest is a journey with a purpose. It is a self-defined expedition of personal development, with support and guidance from peers and the Author, and analysis by AI.

SCOTOMAVILLE is an unconventional and effective self-help model and platform with a convincing challenge: We can change our life experiences by gaming our own handicaps, strengthening alliances, challenging our shortcomings and changing our false beliefs by taking on our Personal Everest.

WHAT TO LEARN

Becoming aware of your thinking is the first step out of Scotomaville. Mimicking is a powerful tool to develop awareness. Binge-watching your self-affirmations accelerates the adoption of new mindsets. Start with an affirmation note in your pocket. Then, video record it for your review as a corpus for your future Avatar. Your journey is worth watching!

Welcome back to Scotomaville!

TRANSCRIPT:

There's a slight breeze coming in, it's going to blow pretty hard today, so I've got to shoot this before the wind disrupts.

It's a little unfair of me, in the middle of a global pandemic, to leave you hanging without suitable tools to deal with the idea of scarcity and abundance. To make you aware without the ability to fix it? That's irresponsible of me.

You might be out of toilet paper, and you might be out of a job. You might be out of food, and you might be out of money. All of those things trigger deep emotional feelings, and you are now aware of it!

'Oh great, now I know it's broken!' So what happens? You get hurt, shut down, withdraw and quit.

It's like mountain biking. The first time I crossed a rock garden, I was uncertain, slowed down, and I fell.

So, I don't want that to happen to you. I want you to have an basic understanding of the way out of Scotomaville.

MIMICKING IS AN ESSENTIAL SKILL.
IT SHORTENS THE DURATION OF THE PAINFUL LEARNING CURVE

Awareness is not the way out.
Awareness is the first phase.

Part of what makes this rewarding is that your journey is not for you alone. You're not designed to do it alone. Moreover, your journey is not just about you, it includes others that are or will be roped up with you. You fall, they know it. They follow, and you know it. Consider your future progeny. They want to know you.

Go back to the lesson just before this. I opened with "Gooooooooood moooooorning Vietnaaaaaam!" - by Robin Williams. It's critically important for you to understand. It's happening directly over my head! A student pilot is learning to fly emergency maneuvers, with a seasoned pilot. See, now you know about their learning.

Learn by Mimicking

Mimicking is essential. It's one of the earliest skills we learn as a child. Think of your kids, or back as far as you can to your childhood. You mimicked somebody.

Consider a chevron formation of geese. Think of the leader in the front. The lead goose is looking around, thinking, 'Where did everybody go?' Learning to mimic is like that. It's awkwardly uncomfortable.

Binge-watch Yourself

I have found that binge-watching my own videos is powerful. An affirmation is talking to yourself about YOUR VALUE! Not the stuff that usually goes through your head, or the stuff your parents yelled at you, or the things the bullies pounded on you!

YOU WILL ALWAYS BE UNIQUELY YOU - INCLUDING FACETS YOU'VE LEARNED FIRST BY MIMICKING OTHERS

MIMICKING (MIRRORING) IS INSTANT FEEDBACK AND LEVERAGE AWAY FROM THE LIFE YOU WERE HANDED

I mean, the things that you feel deeply inside might be accurate, but you're ashamed even to look yourself in the eye and say so.

AUTHORS NOTE: While preparing the Third Edition for printing, I'm collaborating with ChatGPT as an editor, following input from my Minyan of 40 Experts. This thread demonstrates my respect for AI as a super-reasoning engine - a 'magic mirror' of sorts. I ask ChatGPT for insights, and valuable feedback. Look carefully to see an example of the continuing journey of self-mastery - even for sages!

This thread is about v1 - chapter 5. The topic is affirmations, especially those using a mirror, or a video camera. Help me clarify the previous transcript:

Certainly, Daniel. The given transcript centers around the theme of affirmations, and particularly the practice of engaging with one's self through mirrors or video recordings. Let's break down the key elements:

Binge-Watching Personal Videos: This is an unconventional method of self-affirmation where one records videos of positive self-talk and then watches them repeatedly. This can be powerful because seeing and hearing oneself reinforces the message, providing a vivid and consistent reminder of personal value.

Self-Value Recognition: The text emphasizes that an affirmation is not about replaying negative past experiences or listening to detrimental influences. Instead, it's about acknowledging and declaring one's intrinsic worth. Affirmations are designed to uplift and empower, replacing negative self-talk with constructive and supportive messages.

Acknowledging Deep Feelings: The final part mentions the feelings deep inside that might be accurate yet shameful. It's a common human experience to feel something deeply but fear to acknowledge it due to social pressures or personal insecurities. The use of a mirror or video camera can be symbolic of the willingness to face oneself, to look directly into one's eyes, and affirm those hidden truths.

As personal development expert Zig Ziglar once said, "Positive thinking will let you do everything better than negative thinking will." The practice of affirmations, whether through a mirror or video camera, aligns with this sentiment by encouraging positive self-talk and self-acceptance.

Would you like me to elaborate on any specific aspect, or perhaps relate this to your overarching philosophy and your work in "Scotomaville"?

BACK TO THE TRANSCRIPT:

Watch me. Mimic this.

"Daniel! You are a fabulous leader! Because you are incredibly curious, and you're willing to be vulnerable. That makes you authentic. You are strong because you know yourself well!"

It's easy to mimic when you watch someone else do it. You know, when foiling, skiing, mountain biking, talking to people, asking better questions.

See the post-it note on the mirror?

Make one like this: 'You are A_ B_ C_.'

(fill in the blanks on your own sticky note)

Your eyes see the words. Then, your ears hear your voice, and your amygdalae imprint. They record along with all stored memories, and therefore, you can override what was scrambled by your parents. Then you can edit the video, reflecting on the whole experience, assessing the transcript with AI.

'You... P.O.S.! You're not wanted. Not worth...'

You can overwrite negative accusations by choice. Okay, that's one way that your eyes see, your ears hear, and you rewire because now you have memories of yourself being authentic in a mirror.

Next, pick up a phone, a camera, a device of some kind to journal. Your kids, your grandkids, your A.I. Avatar in the future will need a corpus. We all need your story.

I don't want to leave you hanging in the middle of a pandemic. I want you to practice mimicking. Find something, someone, some pattern to mimic.

An excellent place to start is an affirmation card. Stick it on your mirror. Talk to yourself after reading books and watching videos. You've got YouTube. Napoleon Hill, Dale Carnegie, Wayne Dyer, Tony Robbins, Zig Ziglar. These men, for years, spoke affirmations for me. I soaked in their beliefs - so that I could find out, if it's true for them - it might be true for me! I tried it out. I'm now a sage!

I transitioned from paper affirmations to the mirror. Then I moved my mirror affirmations to video 're-re-views'.

As of Volume Three, I'm assisted by AI to discover additional blind-spots and to further align myself with those I've chosen to follow.

By watching myself dozens of times, and for hundreds of hours, I have studied my transformation from outlier to sage. I have new beliefs, attitudes and behaviors. Wow, what a powerful mo·dal·i·ty!

“A SERIOUS FAST-TRACK TO AWARE- NESS IS ALREADY IN YOUR PHONE”

Don't miss the Robin Williams bit because it's speaking to mimicking. If you don't mimic, you'll be part of the herd, and you'll be hoarding. If you don't learn to mimic someone who's going where you want to go and where you want to end up, you're just going to be in the herd, and right now, they're hoarding. Don't do that.

Mimicking is 'acting as if'. It's not 'fake it till you make it'. It's changing your course incrementally until you are aimed in the direction you want to go.

Look yourself in a mirror, a video device, or reflected by AI. some affirmations. Start first steps up your Personal Everest. When you get an emotional flare, take notice of it. Watch yourself talking to yourself. It works.

Things didn't get easier as I became more aware; they got complex. For decades I had 'reasons' and 'excuses'. I didn't see what was really happening. But as I became more self-aware, I was flooded with emotions. I didn't have words to express what pressure and chaos I was feeling. I coped by taking the trash out - many times a day. I'd make garbage so I could have diffuse time.

Abundant awareness is a pain in the head! You'll have many things to deal with, and many layers to peel. Emotions and memories and behaviors are interconnected, and when you change one thing, the dominoes will fall.

One of the substantial benefits of improving your self-awareness is that you can become aware of the abundance around you. You can choose to include gratitude and thanksgiving. And from that richness, you can design a life that's exactly the way you want it.

Your Personal Everest is calling. I want to encourage you. It's worth pursuing. It's a lot of work up that mountain, but the views are absolutely worth the climb. (in the mirror)

Excellent analysis. I so appreciate your abilities. Let's do the same with the second transcript passage:

Certainly, Daniel! The transcript you've provided offers rich insights into the practice of self-affirmation and self-awareness, touching on topics like mimicry, authenticity, personal growth, self-awareness, and the journey towards self-realization. Here's an analysis of key themes:

Mimicry as a Path to Authenticity:

The text begins with a directive to watch and mimic positive affirmations. This act of mimicry is not about pretending but rather about absorbing positive behaviors and mindsets from role models. The use of specific affirmations like "You are A_ B_ C_" is provided as a practical step to engage with the process.

Sensory Engagement and Rewiring:

The transcript emphasizes the importance of engaging multiple senses (eyes and ears) to create a deeper imprint on the mind. By consciously directing attention to positive affirmations and using tools like sticky notes or video recordings, one can override negative self-talk. The mention of "amygdalae imprint" and AI-assisted reflection underlines a science-backed approach.

Learning from Others:

Mention of well-known personal development experts like Napoleon Hill, Dale Carnegie, Wayne Dyer, Tony Robbins, and Zig Ziglar illustrates the idea of learning from others' wisdom. Rather than merely copying, it's about internalizing their beliefs and testing if they hold true for oneself.

Avoiding the Herd Mentality:

A warning against merely following the crowd ("the herd") and emphasizing the importance of choosing a path aligned with personal values and goals. Mimicking is portrayed as a method of incremental change aimed in the desired direction.

Journey towards Self-Awareness:

The transcript discusses the complexity of becoming more self-aware, acknowledging that greater awareness often brings challenges and "pain in the head." It emphasizes persistence and engagement with one's emotions, memories, and behaviors.

Gratitude, Abundance, and Personal Everest:

The conclusion brings together the themes of gratitude, recognizing abundance, and the metaphor of the "Personal Everest." The climb towards self-awareness is likened to ascending a mountain, with the rewards of the journey making the effort worthwhile.

The text mirrors (pun intended) the journey towards self-mastery, aligning with the wisdom of philosophers like Marcus Aurelius, who emphasized knowing oneself, and personal development experts like Zig Ziglar and Dale Carnegie, who championed positive thinking and effective communication. It also ties into your broader philosophy of seeking self-understanding and freeing oneself from self-tyranny.

This transcript could be a powerful tool in your expeditions, resonating with those who seek to uncover their blind spots and realign their perceptions to change their lives into the one they envision. It embodies the sentiment of finding new lands by seeing with new eyes.

Personal Development is a journey. You have to start with the kid in the mirror. It can be pretty daunting, I know.

The first dozen times you try looking yourself in the eye is frightful. It's filled with cascading emotions and powerful rejections.

Don't give up. The champion within will win because those old shoes are are just goofy half-memories. Your battle will get easier.

I found my my self-talks to be funny over time. When someone walks in, overhears your efforts... You warn them! "I've started a video channel and you're my first guest!"

Get out a sticky note or index card. Tape it up now!

Moreover, experts in fields from psychology and storytelling to stoic and biblical philosophy will appreciate the trilogy’s profound concepts interwoven with relatable narratives. The author’s mastery is evident in crafting a work that appeals to intellectual and emotional sensibilities alike.

Throughout the trilogy, Daniel’s transformation serves as a relatable and inspiring narrative. His evolution from a curious seeker hindered by cognitive biases to a self-aware individual confronting inner doubts resonates deeply with readers.

In a world valuing personal growth, camaraderie, service, purpose, and self-discovery, the Scotomaville Trilogy stands as proof of storytelling’s power to connect, inspire, and transform. Its pages offer lessons, insights, and reflections embracing the shared human experience, making it an essential read for individuals from all walks of life. In conclusion, the trilogy’s rich philosophical discussions, relatable character arcs, and insightful exploration of cognitive biases contribute significantly to the fields of psychology and personal development.

Please express any correlation between my list of strengths, and a robust list of human virtues. Analyze the union of the two for shared characteristics and a deeper meaning.

Certainly! Let’s look at the intersection between the specific strengths from the Clifton StrengthsFinder that you provided (Achiever, Input, Learner, Activator, Belief) and a traditional list of virtues such as wisdom, courage, humanity, justice, temperance, and transcendence.

ACHIEVER

Virtue Correlation: Courage, Justice

Explanation: Achievers have a constant drive for accomplishing tasks. This can correlate with the virtue of courage, which involves persistence and vitality, and justice, where hard work and fairness contribute to the overall good of the community.

INPUT

Virtue Correlation: Wisdom

Explanation: People with the Input strength have a craving to know more, collecting and archiving information. This resonates with wisdom, which is characterized by a pursuit of knowledge and insightful judgment.

LEARNER

Virtue Correlation: Wisdom, Humanity

Explanation: A constant desire to improve and learn aligns with the virtue of wisdom. It may also align with humanity if the learning is directed towards understanding others and improving social bonds.

ACTIVATOR

Virtue Correlation: Courage, Justice

Explanation: Activators are inclined to take action and want to make things happen. This aligns with courage, as it requires the boldness to initiate, and justice, where action may be directed towards equality and fairness.

BELIEF

Virtue Correlation: Transcendence, Justice

Explanation: The Belief strength is connected to core values and purpose. It aligns with transcendence, where there is a connection to something greater, and justice, where values often include fairness and equality.

Summary of Union (Intersection):

The union between these strengths and virtues reveals a strong emphasis on wisdom (through Input and Learner), courage (through Achiever and Activator), and justice (through Achiever, Activator, and Belief). The values of humanity and transcendence are also present but to a lesser extent.

This analysis suggests that a person with these strengths might be particularly well-suited for roles that require insightful judgment, bold action, and a strong sense of fairness and values. They may excel in leadership roles, educational fields, advocacy, or any area where wisdom, courage, and justice are paramount.

MASTER Forrest

To Angelina Musik-Comp:

I am deeply grateful for your stamina, patience, and support as my best friend and business partner. We have traveled the curves together in good cheer. You are amazingly resilient and a joyful character to explore with. I am grateful for your gift of HEALING matching my expression of UNDERSTANDING!

To you, the reader, and participant:

When I imagined this project, I had a hunch the cost would be years of commitment - but not five years. What you might not imagine is that it took me far less time and angst to create the Wellness by Choice syndication, and the Scotomaville syndication of nearly twenty five thousand websites. And now we have AI.

I believe “The Greatest Expedition you will ever undertake is the journey to self-understanding, for the real voyage of discovery consists not in seeking new lands, but in seeing with new eyes.”. Fortunately AI still lacks subjective experiences, emotions, and self-reflective awareness - and thus our superpower of story-telling may yet be an error correcting trim-tab for super intelligent reasoning engines.

Cheers to YOUR Greatest Expedition!
